

Energy Edge Consulting Adds New Member to Its Team

Industry Veteran Joins Energy Edge's Dallas Office

Houston, TX (PRWeb) February 26, 2019

Energy Edge, a leading provider of energy management consulting services, has added Neal Hendrix to its team of energy professionals. Neal joins the company's Dallas office.

Neal brings over 10 years of energy industry experience advising clients on a wide range of energy management areas. He most recently worked with Schneider Electric's Energy & Sustainability Services team in Dallas where he was responsible for providing customized energy solutions for large commercial and industrial clients. Prior to working with Schneider, Neal worked with NRG's Business Solutions team.

Neal will help Energy Edge continue to grow its client base spanning a wide range of industries, including manufacturing, chemical processing, telecommunications, commercial real estate, restaurants, and government institutions. Neal will bring added expertise to the areas of energy procurement, risk management consulting services and renewable energy procurement consulting services, as well as other areas.

"We're excited to have Neal join the Energy Edge team," said Brian Walker, President of Energy Edge Consulting. "Neal's expertise in advising clients on complex energy management needs and his broad relationships in the industry will add significant value for both current and future clients of Energy Edge."
